

Dear Ministry Partners,

This year has been a year of blessing for many. Lives have been impacted, hearts have been changed, community has been found, hope has been restored. And if you are one of our many prayer and financial supporters, you have played a vital role in this hope being offered.

If you want to know how God uses Hope For Wholeness to transform lives, please read the following testimonies.

Scott and Emily, FL — We support Hope for Wholeness because they are a voice in the wilderness calling for love, compassion, and living a life that is pleasing to God. They have helped us grow in our understanding of the complexity of same-sex attraction, and helped us spiritually heal from the damage. It is our prayer that you will help Hope for Wholeness expand their ministry to reach more people who are in need of Christ's love and forgiveness.

Greg Stricker, Tempe, AZ — Hope for Wholeness proves to a mocking world that Christ IS, and that He is sovereign and reigns supremely. It is a community that stands as "salt and light, and a city on the hill," shining love to a people desperate for it. It is unique because it is comprised of people who were formerly so affected and the people who love them. It is a light shining in the darkness that the darkness cannot overcome.

Sonya Bolt, Weaverville, NC — Two years ago I walked into my first HFW conference searching for information. I was scared to death that I would encounter 'gay bashers,' and hear a lot of 'turn or burn' speeches. Instead I was met with nothing but God's love shown through people who truly care. Since then, God has lit a fire deep in my soul as I continue to press deeper into Him. I'll never be the same!

Sonia Balcer, Los Angeles, CA — Hope for Wholeness is an oasis of support for ordinary people who are endeavoring to honor Christ amid struggles with same-sex attraction. The HFW network connects people needing support and ministries that exist to serve them and loved ones who are accompanying them on their journey of faithfulness. Among the many things I appreciate about HFW is the pastoral simplicity of focus on those who need to connect with trustworthy places of support, and the ministries that provide safe places to grow in Christ. No effort is dissipated in attempts to persuade others who don't share the conviction that gay relationships are not ordained by God, nor do they speak about issues that don't directly serve the purpose of helping believers entrust their sexuality and their relational future to the God who created and died for them. Another thing I appreciate is that no promises are implied for what the believer's future will hold, except the joy of a lifetime of drawing closer to Jesus each and every day. For this purity of devotion to those in need, HFW has my wholehearted support. I hope it will gain the widespread support of individuals and churches everywhere who have a heart for people of faith who face a dilemma of same-sex attractions, and are willing to press onward to discover ever deeper intimacy and purpose in Christ.

Maranda Bradley, Cherokee, NC — Thanks to Hope for Wholeness for believing in me. When I was down you guys helped me up. When I was struggling, you guys had some good words, and God's Word to back up what you were saying to me. The conference last year changed my life when I finally realized that my past did not define me or say who I am today, and sometimes God takes time to heal someone from homosexuality. I thought if I went to the conference that God would miraculously heal me and I would not have to worry about it again. God can take anything and use it for our good! Right now I'm in the struggle of being a paraplegic, but God is bigger than my shortcomings or diagnosis. The doctors say I will not ever walk again, but if God wanted to, He could heal me right now. He is using me in this state I am in to touch lives of people I know, but also of people I have not met. God does amazing things and right now I'm sitting here in my bed thinking about how far God has brought me since my accident, and how many lives I have ministered to because of my faith. My faith has been made stronger through my accident. It is not easy and sometimes I just cry because I can't be with my daughter, but that time will come. Right now is my time to lean on my Father and let Him love on me. Thank you all for still caring for me, loving me, and praying for me. It means a lot! God bless!

James Douglas, Nashville, TN — I love the community. The sense that I'm not alone. And, honestly, after Exodus closed, I was so thankful HFW began the effort to be a national ministry—taking the cause and NEED for this ministry to a national level and be the light that was once Exodus. Thank you so much Hope for Wholeness for all you do to bring us together in unity.

Daniel Mingo, Louisville, KY — Abba's Delight tithes monthly to the Hope for Wholeness Network. In donating this way, I have seen God bless us in many unexpected ways. I continue to see that I cannot out-give God's generosity. He is faithful. I trust He will use our ministry's resources given to Hope for Wholeness to minister to and bless those who come to the Network for assistance in dealing with the impact of homosexuality on their lives. If you have been blessed or touched by Hope for Wholeness, please prayerfully consider a monthly donation or a one-time gift. What better way to thank the Lord for His work in your life than to sow financially into the ministry network He's used to bring about holiness in your life!

We count it a great privilege to stand in the gap for those in need—will you join us? Your tax deductible year-end gift and monthly commitment changes hearts and lives!

Thank you for your consideration & partnership! Merry Christmas from our family to yours!
